About New Delhi

New Delhi, the national capital of India, is one of the nine districts of the National Capital Territory of Delhi. It is the seat of the Government of India. With an area of 47.2 sq km, it is one of the fastest growing cities in the world and was recently rated as a Beta World City. It is bound by the states of Haryana, Punjab, Uttar Pradesh and Rajasthan.

History of New Delhi

Being under the rule of several rulers and dynasties, the city has a rich historical and cultural background. Muhammad of Ghori captured the city in 1192 and he was overthrown by Timur in 1398. The first battle of Panipat in 1526 saw the handover of Delhi from the Lodhis to the Mughals, when Babur established the Mughal Empire. The city then came under the British rule in 1803. Later, Delhi became the capital of the British who shifted to the city from Calcutta in 1911, and finally the capital city of modern India in 1947.

Things to do in New Delhi

Delhi has two parts: the old and the new. While Old Delhi is all about alleys, bylanes, Mughal and British architectural structures, New Delhi is home to several offices and modern buildings. Some of the major attractions of the city include the Red Fort, India Gate, Qutub Minar, Jantar Mantar, etc. Other sightseeing options include the Raj Bhavan, Akshardham Temple, Lotus Temple, Parliament House, Raj Ghat as well as several museums. Chandni Chowk, Karolbagh and Connaught Place have emerged as the most sought-after shopping hubs.

Food & Shopping in New Delhi

Another significant facet of New Delhi is its bazaars and its food. Tourists can walk in the bylanes of Chandni Chowk and savour some local delicacies like chaats and jalebis or just walk up to street markets like Janpath, Sarojini Nagar, Khan Market or Lajpat Nagar to shop for clothes, chappals, bags and other accessories. Haggling in these markets is a must. The Dilli Haat where craft fairs are also held is another must-visit shopping destination in Delhi.

To reach New Delhi, tourists can opt for air, rail or road as a mode of transport. The city's airport, Indira Gandhi International Airport, serves both domestic and international flights. It is connected to most of the cities within the country and also has direct connections to several international destinations including New York, London, Hong Kong, Beijing, Singapore, etc.

New Delhi is also well connected by trains. New Delhi Railway Station (NLDS) is the main rail station of Delhi. Other major stations are Old Delhi Railway Station and Hazrat Nizamuddin Railway Station. New Delhi is also reachable by road from nearby cities and regions with bus services being provided by the Delhi Transport Corporation and several private operators. There are three main bus terminals – Inter State Bus Terminus, Sarai Kale-Khan Bus Terminus and Anand Vihar Bus Terminus.

New Delhi has extreme climatic conditions. Summers, with temperatures often going above 45° Celsius, can be very hot. Winters, on the other hand, are chilly and foggy. However, the best time to visit New Delhi is from October to March as this time is ideal for sightseeing activities and outings.

Travelling within New Delhi

The best way to get around Delhi is either by auto rickshaws or the metro, which connects major parts of the city. Tourists can opt for cycle rickshaws when exploring the quaint old bylanes of Old Delhi.

Accommodation options in New Delhi

Delhi tourism gives a lot of options to tourists when it comes to hotel options in the city. Hotel options in New Delhi include service apartments, lodges, budget hotels, 5 star hotels as well as home stays.

New Delhi: The taste of India

"New Delhi have all the variety, ethnicity, culture, languages, north, South, as a whole its mixed city at center of India, know as capital city India. New Delhi is little bit crowded but its nice place to visit. National heritage like India gate, Kutub Minar, Lotus Temple, Pragati Maidan, Akshardham, Iskon Temple, Delhi Metro, Nehru Palce, CaunaudPalace, IIT Delhi, Parliament, Rastrapati Bhawan, Red Fort, a lot to visit and feel craze of India. Delhi is well connected to all modes of transportation. The security is also fine.

Several famous Street like Chandhani chuk, Malwiya Nagy, Noida, Greater Noida, Rajiv Chowk, Uttam Nagar etc are very famous to visit. Food- The north India foods like Paratha is speciality of New Delhi. Chaats, panipuri, Dahibhalle, rolls, kachori etc are famous snacks of Delhi. Changezi Chicken is major Chain Chicken Shop of Delhi, its Chicken is mind blowing. In whole Delhi is extraordinary connected to Metro, so prefer metro for trvail as it is comfortable and economical both. Hazrat Nizamuddin railway station, Anand Vihar Terminal, New Delhi Railway station are major railway station from where you get your train for any part of country.

Indira Ghandi International Airport from where you can your fight for any part of the world. Overall Delhi everything which will make you happy and enjoy. Incredible India!" - Ajeet Singhaniya, Bangalore, 2 months ago

If you want to see real India just visit Delhi

"It is the best place if you want to enjoy real India. Delhi has many places where you can visit with your Family and Friends to have great amount of enjoyment. You can Visit some religious and historical places as well like Bangla Sahib Gurudwara, Sheeshganj Gurudwara, Hazrat Nizamuddin, Akshardham and many more. If you want to have some picnic kind environment you can simply visit to India Gate, Lal Quila, Jantar Mantar, Qutub Minar & many more. What attracts more the Malls located in NCR area which have huge crowd all over the week. You can get many items to eat if you want. Some places are only dedicated to foodie people where you can go to have some great taste of India. I visited there many times & everytime I feel satisfied and enjoyed." - Rahul Bhatia, Bareilly, 2 months ago

Delhi is the Best Palace to Travel

"Last month I visited Delhi and found the Best palace in Delhi for travelers. In Five Star Hotel the best choice is between Le-Meridean or Sangrila. The food is best in Le-Meridean but the Services is best in the Sangrila. The best places to see is Akshardam Temple and Chattarpur Temple. India Gate, Red Fort, Old Fort, Qutub Minar are the Historic palaces, but only for sight seeing. Another important place is Majnu Ka Tilla that is another Mini Tibet in India. In three Star Category hotel Signature Grand, Park Plaza are the best. Similarly several Budget Hotel are available in Paharganj and if you are travelling by air and want to stay near to airport and Gurgaon then there are several budgetary hotels are available near airport, they are much comfortable." - Vijay Sharma, , 3 months ago

Delhi, the Dahleez (the threshold of India)

"At the outset, those visiting Delhi, don't make it a day's visit. You'll regret it. Keep at least three to four days just for Delhi.

Delhi, our national capital, is not only historically rich but is a paradise for tourists of all types. Whether you are a history buff or a shopping buff, whether you are a foodie or love nature, Delhi has something for you. The only drawback is its extreme weather, whether summer or winter, so make sure you go there either close to Diwali(between September to November) or in March- April. I would prefer March April for two reasons which make it all the more better. One is the chance to visit the extravagant and lovely nature thrown open in the way of Mughal Gardens. This is the Rashtrapati Bhavan garden which is open only for a short time when in bloom. Second reason is the Surajkund mela in nearby surajkund, a must visit for anyone who wishes to buy authentic, cheap and native handicrafts, which is around this time. (Google search for the time of the mela and book your trip according to that, you can hit two birds with one stone).

As for Delhi, of course, the Red Fort, The Rashtrapati Bhavan(only outside), India Gate, Jantar Mantar(avoid if there are protests, which regularly happen) are the obvious names along with the beautiful Lotus Temple(Bahai) and Qutub Minar. If you have time on your hands, you can do it in two days and if you are in a hurry, Delhi Darshan buses will help you to do it in a day. Two things, I would personally recommend is the sound and light show at Red Fort. This begins at 7pm daily. And is in two languages in separate shows. You can combine this visit with the paranthe wali galli after the show. Paranthe Wali Gali is a small "blink and you miss it" galli walkable from the Red Fort, which boasts of parathas of more than 100 types including a kaju one, which was sinful but yummy. Chandni Chowk, where this galli is a place where it's impossible to find parking. (Either take a metro or park and walk) is the old Delhi where you can shop for authentic stuff.

Second recommendation is the Akshardham. Make it a evening trip which includes a musical fountain show. The lights make it worth it. But if you love to see the delicate carvings, visit during the day. Caution, you are not allowed to carry anything, including purses/mobiles and to avoid making that trip to the parking lot again, leave it behind in the hotel and carry only notes as cash(for entry) there is almost always a big crowd. So be prepared for a long wait. Not for senior citizens who can't walk. If you are a senior citizen think of a wheelchair.

A lot of people visit Dilli Haat for shopping handicraft and decor stuff (if you are visiting Surajkund, not needed). Inside you can see stalls from all states with their own unique handicrafts. And food stalls of all the states too. You can make this as your lunch point.

A review of Delhi is incomplete without a mention of its UP chat especially alu tikki chaat and ram ladoos. And Makki ki roti and Sarson ka saag (only in winters till april) Non vegetarians gorge on the punjabi food. Butter chicken, tandoori stuff etc.

If that didn't make you pull out your dates to book your tickets to Delhi, Delhi is a short distance away from Agra. Now that's another review altogether." - Archana Hemmady, , Jul 31, 2015

Perfect place to explore, many interesting places

"Well New Delhi perfect place for visiting in winters and may be in all seasons. My first experience of it was a mix of traditions which can be seen in Paharganj where you can find people from various places, market places, temples and even foreigners out there.

Next point to be highlighted is Delhi Metro which is connected all over the city and very helpful to all people who travel without facing any traffic jams. In my tour, first place to visit was AksharDham temple the biggest temple I have ever seen the easiest to reach their to get into metro and get their at Akshardham metro station.

Well it has got volunteers at the entrances who check and permit you inside. One more important point to be noticed all the valuable goods must be deposited in the lockers before you enter the temple.

Next to visit is Balaji Mandir and Ramakrishna Ashram which are very close to Paharganj nearest metro station to visit them is you can get down at Ramakrishna Ashram marg metro. Both are best place to visit for those who like calm and perform meditation.

The metro station to watch will be Rajeev Chowk which is awesome. Around it you can visit Connaught Place which is awesome. It is often abbreviated to CP and houses the headquarters of several noted Indian firms. Well the famous Gurudwara there is a must place to visit and also other shopping malls to visit.

Next noticeable places to watch are Red fort, Bapu Ghat, India Gate you can get into violet line metro and get down there at civil lines were long side at Rashtrapati bhavan you can see foreign embassies of various countries.

Next phase of our journey was visiting some more architectures like Qutub Minar, Chandni Chowk, Kalka Ji Mandir so it was awesome experience really to visit all the places.

The important tips I suggest to tourists:

Schedule your tour plan once you get down from railway station if you are new comer to Delhi then go to Pahar Ganj gate and walk few meters you can find hotels where you can reside and very easy for you to move around.

Don't choose private transport as it is expensive use metro which is connected to all places.

Plan your trip properly before you reach that ensures you can visit delhi lot more and enjoy more.

Camera, warm clothes are very important because there are many sites where pics can be taken and also warm clothes because Delhi very cool." - Utham K, Hyderabad, Dec 30, 2014
